EU Emissions Trading Directive operators consultation day

What is the purpose of the Consultation Day?

The day offers an informal private setting in which operators can ask/discuss any specific issues related to the EU Emissions Trading Directive to a team of experts. The consultation is entirely non-obligatory and free of charge.

Meet the expert team.

Wim Maaskant, BGP Engineers; Linking Directive; Inspection, regulatory cycle: policy making , permitting, inspection, enforcement.

Günter Schock, TUV Rheinland; Monitoring and reporting, Process flows, energy consumption, emissions, monitoring techniques, reporting. Costs of monitoring and verification.

Hans Warmenhoven, BGP/SPIN; Registries

Who may attend?

Consultation Day is open to any operator which is connected to the Slovakian Emission Trading System.

Subscription/duration:

There are at least 20 consults of 20 minutes available and subscription is required. The first 20 subscribers will get an official invitation with a time schedule.

Where and when will the Consultation Day take place?

Consultation Day is held at the Slovak Ministry of the Environment, Námestie L. Štura 1, 812 35 Bratislava. Please register at the reception before entering the consultation room. The consultation will take place in room No. 404.

What did operators from the EU say about Consultation Days?

One participant commented: 'I thought I knew quite a lot about the EU-ETS process and was really amazed at how much there was still to learn about'

Others have described these days as: 'Excellent and extremely useful with a very open and informal style which is ideal'
'Excellent, well briefed advisors'
'Great to meet people to share views and experiences'
